ANNUAL REPORT 2017

LYDIA'S STORY

At three-years-old, Lydia and her sisters were orphaned when the LRA rebel army killed their family outside their village in northern Uganda. Lydia and her sisters were left alone to care for themselves.

The girls lived together in a small hut — their eldest sister, Judith (a fourteen-year-old), did her best to be a mother, protector, and caregiver to her younger sisters. Being unable to find food or adequately care for themselves, the girls left their home desperately searching for a place of refuge and healing. It was then that the sisters found their way to Exile International's program which provided exactly what they needed!

Since then, Lydia and her three sisters have been a part of our programs where they are cared for and loved by local caregivers and where they have developed a new family among their peers. No longer will they have fear for safety. These brave survivors are receiving healing for the wounds of war, being loved and disciplined while

MEET ISAAC

I lost both my mother and my father to the warring in my country. It was a very sad and difficult situation, but my grandmother did her very best to raise me through it. However, as much as she tried, she lacked the money to be able to do so. I was so hopeless during this time — so much so that I did not even play or talk to anyone.

When I was six years old, the Exile International program welcomed me in. I received counseling and mentorship, and they even sent me to school! Now I am in 5th grade, and I have overcome so much of the hurts I went through. I am succeeding in my classes, and I believe in my future because I have learned how to express my feelings wherever I go. I now enjoy to playing with friends and talk to anyone. I am a child of hope.

HOLISTIC REHABILITATIVE CARE

From the basic needs of any child — food, water, and shelter — to meeting the emotional and psychological needs of children recovering from the deep scars of war, trauma and loss.

EI strives to see each child succeed and excel, not only during their time with EI, but also as they launch into successful lives! This requires long-term investments from caretakers who understand each child’s cultural and social dynamics — providing each child with the very best in psychological care, mentoring and discipleship.

ROADMAP TO HEALING

“The victims of injustice in our world do not need our spasms of passion; they need our long obedience in the same direction - our legs and lungs of endurance; And we need sturdy stores of joy.” — Gary Haugen

El care programs are restoring war-affected children through holistic, rehabilitative care — providing physical, emotional, and spiritual restoration. El also provides education, housing, food, and medical care.

Utilizing a three-tier, curriculum-based model of (1) art-focused trauma care, (2) peace-building and conflict resolution, and (3) leadership development, El empowers child survivors of war to become leaders who will transform communities for Christ.

REUNIFICATION & OPPORTUNITIES TO THRIVE

Established partnerships with local leaders and communities empower each child to establish new lives as leaders for peace and influencers in their communities!

5

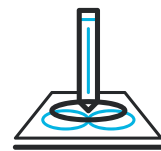

LEADERSHIP DEVELOPMENT & MENTORING

ART-FOCUSED TRAUMA CARE

Art is an empowering medium for children to express and process emotions and experiences they do not yet have the words to share.

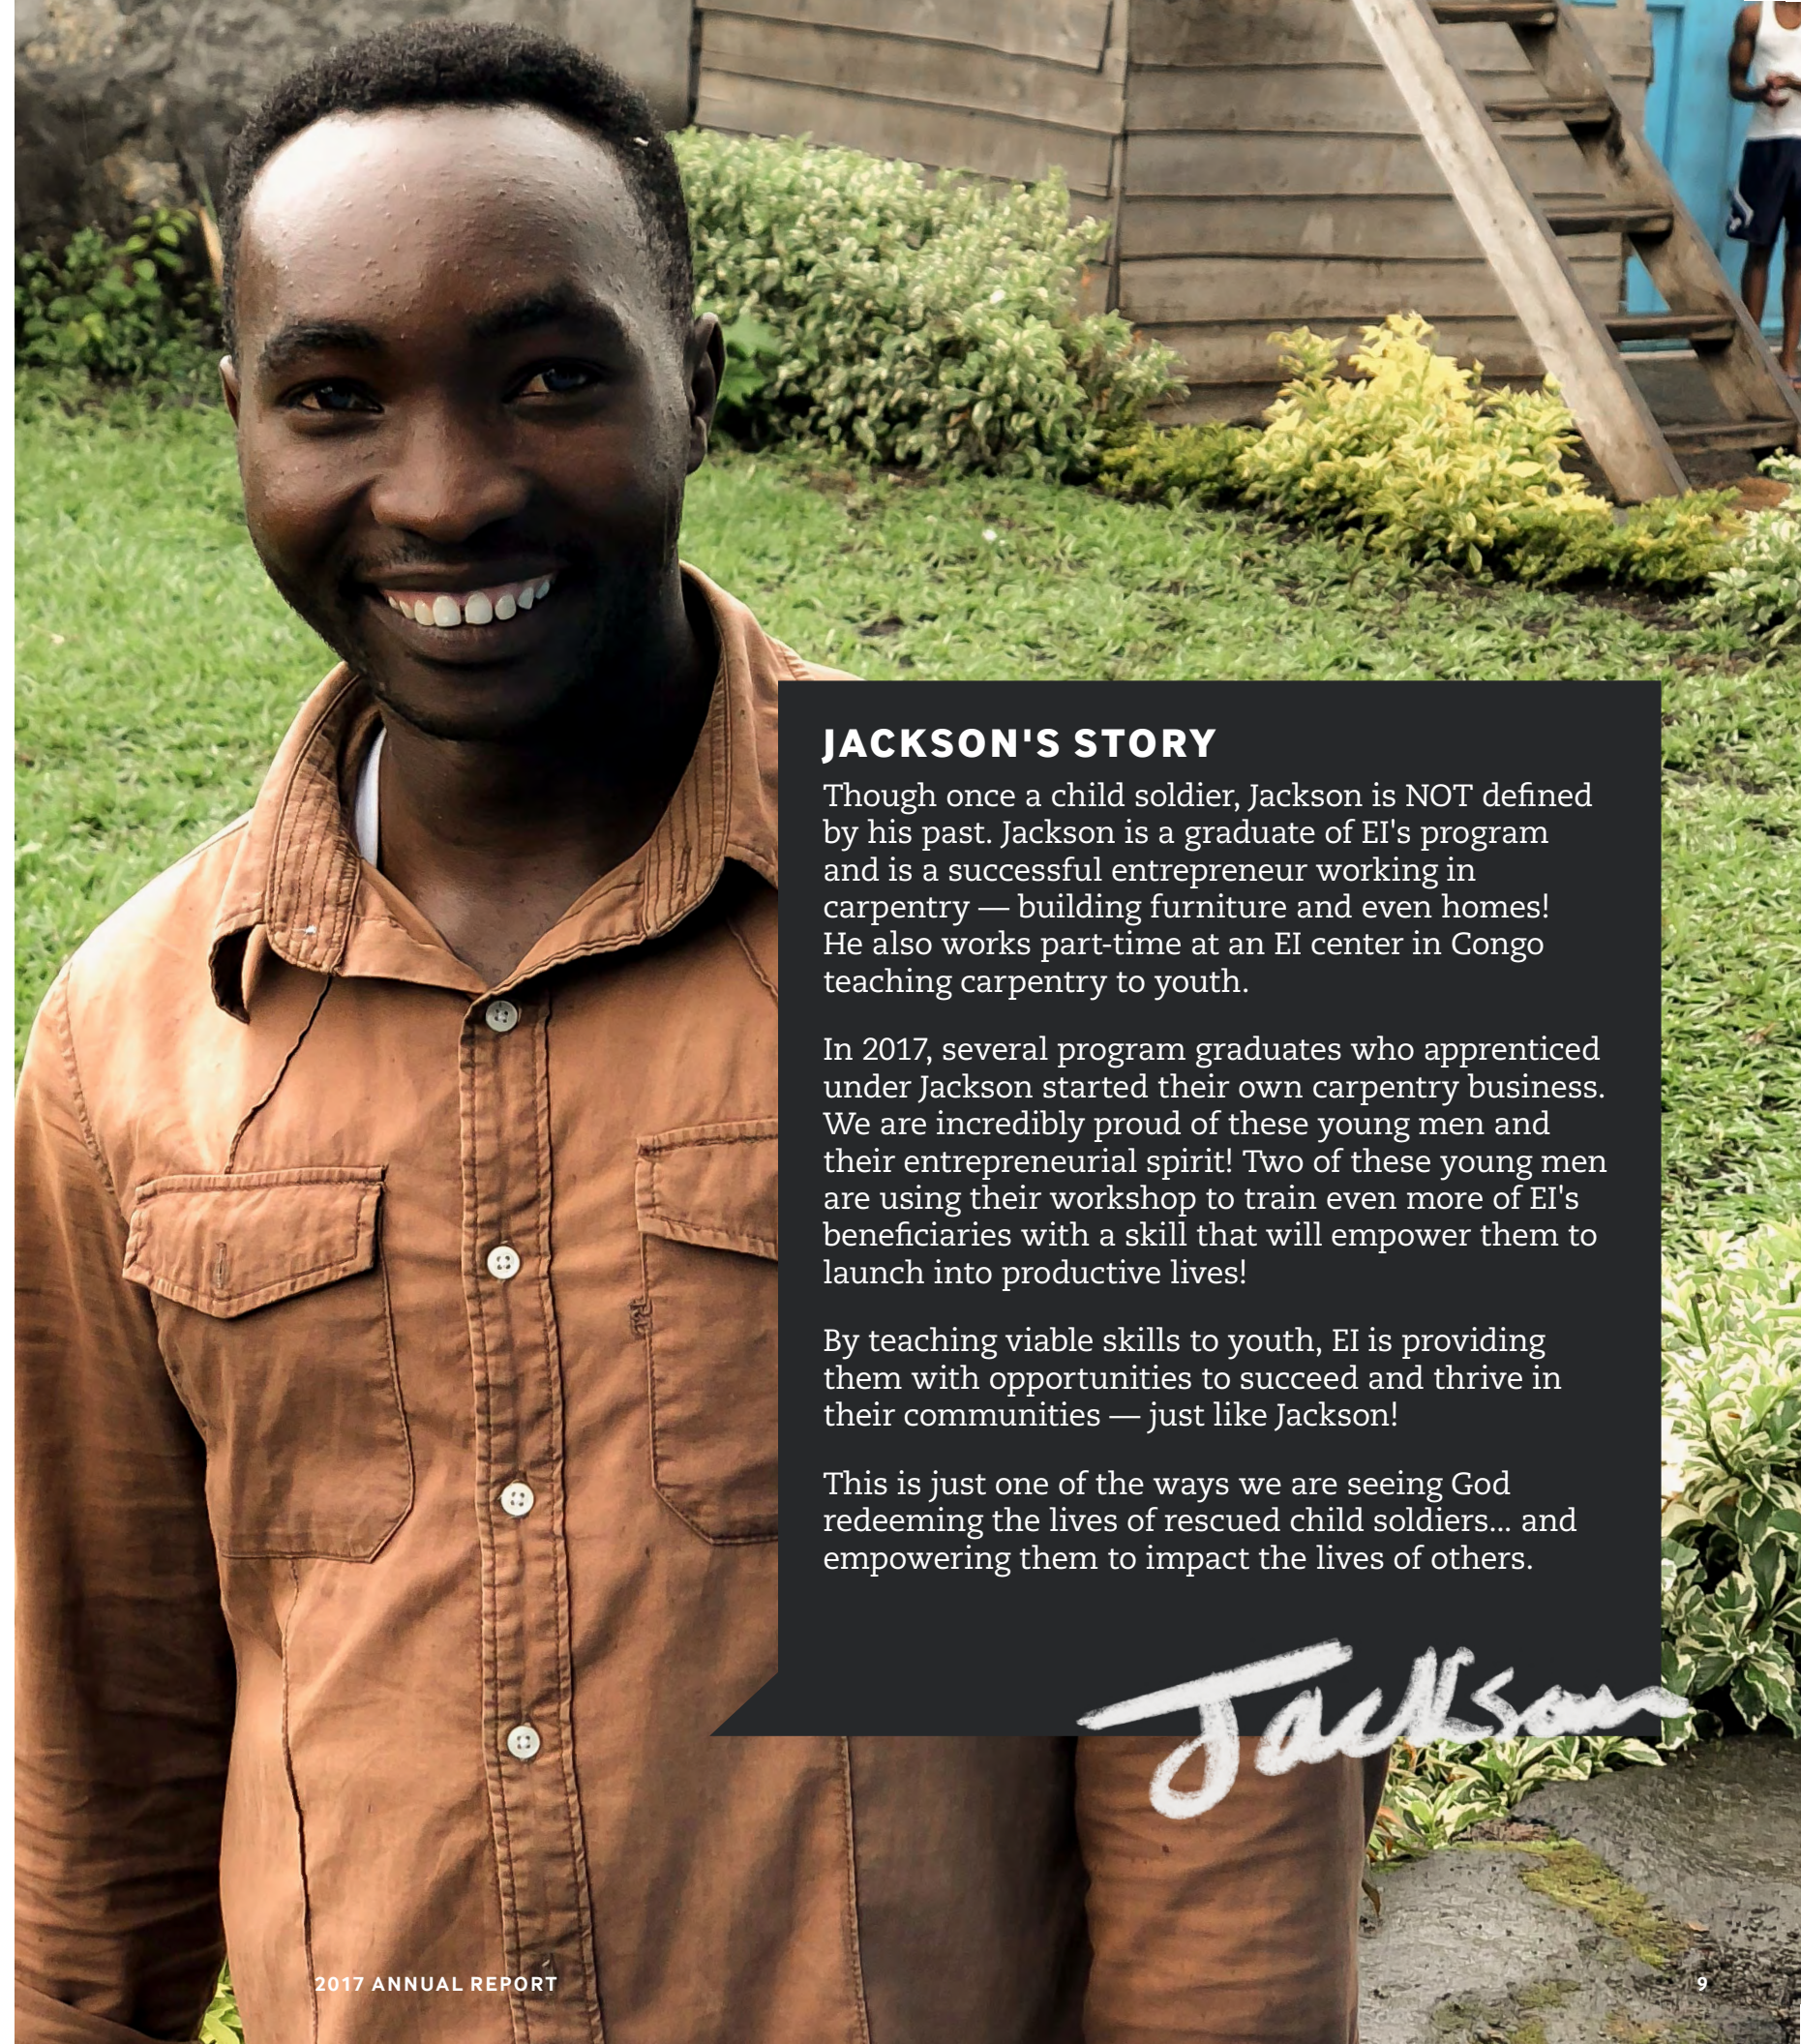

Therapeutic programs incorporating art, music, dance and drama provide children with avenues to share their stories. For many, this expression becomes the first step on a path of healing and discovering hope.

By communicating their stories with caregivers, mentors and peers, children are able to rebuild a sense of normalcy – the knowledge that “I can be understood” – once lost to extreme physical and emotional traumas.

JACKSON'S STORY

Though once a child soldier, Jackson is NOT defined by his past. Jackson is a graduate of EI's program and is a successful entrepreneur working in carpentry — building furniture and even homes! He also works part-time at an EI center in Congo teaching carpentry to youth.

In 2017, several program graduates who apprenticed under Jackson started their own carpentry business. We are incredibly proud of these young men and their entrepreneurial spirit! Two of these young men are using their workshop to train even more of EI's beneficiaries with a skill that will empower them to launch into productive lives!

By teaching viable skills to youth, EI is providing them with opportunities to succeed and thrive in their communities — just like Jackson!

This is just one of the ways we are seeing God redeeming the lives of rescued child soldiers... and empowering them to impact the lives of others.

JANET'S STORY OF PEACE

When Janet was just 15-years-old, she was abducted and forced to be a sex-slave and “wife” to Joseph Kony, the leader of the LRA rebel army. Enslaved for eight years, she bore two children to Kony before escaping in 2005.

After breaking free, Janet transitioned from captivity through a care program where she began working through her years of enslavement. She was given the means to express what she was forced to do and provided a safe space to dream for her future.

Despite the injustices and the terrible pain she survived, through God’s grace, Janet’s unceasing, infectious smile speaks to her redemption and hope. The pains of her past formed a new journey toward a bright and hopeful future. She was able to return to high school and even went on to earn a university education with a degree in Community Development.

Five years after escaping her enslavement, Janet became a leader in EI programs, helping other women become leaders of hope in their communities.

She has successfully led EI economic empowerment programs and counseling groups for child-mothers (a term which is used locally for abducted girls who return from bush captivity with children).

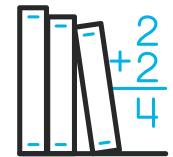

Janet is now happily married with three beautiful, healthy children and continues to volunteer her time assisting other child-mothers.

BLESSING

DR Congo

After much time in the care and rehabilitation programs of Exile, peace came back to my mind. I found faith in Christ. I also regained opportunity for education — and have now graduated from university completing my degree in Management and Development Enterprise.

CAROL

Uganda

I lost my parents to the Ugandan civil war when I was very young, and I was taken in by my grandmother. My grandmother, however, died and I was left alone at 12 years old. Thanks to Exile's presence in the community, I was welcomed into compassionate arms. I have a place to belong.

MOISE

DR Congo

My family could not care for my siblings or me. We were left on the streets and I was taken in by rebels. When I was ten, I escaped the rebel group and found my way to the care center. Because of this place, I have friends and I have a future. Soon I will even finish secondary school!
